THE SIOUX CHIEFS

SITTING BULL AND SEVERAL OTHERS NOW IN WASHINGTON,

IN CONNECTION WITH THE SALE OF THEIR DAKOTA LANDS.

They Are Excluded from a Church Pew Merely Because They Killed and Scalped the Owner's Son—They Visit the Places of Interest About the City and Attract Great Attention Elsewhere.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A number of the Sioux Indians now in Washington to confer with the authorities about the sale of Dakota lands, participated in the fight with the United States cavalry on Little Big Horn in 1876, in which Custer and his entire command was massacred. Among the dusky visitors is Sitting Bull, who was in command of the Indians at the massacre. Sunday last a number of Indians, including Sitting Bull, were taken to St. Matthew's Catholic church. They are in the habit of attending a Catholic church in Dakota, in charge of missionary fathers.

At St. Matthew's Sunday the principal chiefs were assigned seats in the front pews. One of these pews belongs to a widow whose son was a bright young second lieutenant, who graduated at West Point about a year prior to the fight, and was one of those massacred with Custer. The usher was about to show Sitting Bull and a few of his companions into the widow's pew, when a younger son of the lady, who was occupying it, arose and objected, and the usher was obliged to let the Indians in an adjoining pew.

To day it is expected that the reply to the present to the appeal of the Sioux chiefs for the retention of their lands will be made known to them by Secretary Vilas. They will then spend another day or two in sightseeing before resuming their journey toward the setting sun over the "wagons" which made them so very sick in coming here.

Having no business on hand Tuesday, the Sioux fellows did the town in true tourist style. They began by ascending the Washington monument. Only one-half of the party could go up at one time, as the elevator will carry but thirty. Those who were left below went outside and danced about the monument and set up a deafening jabber as they tried to make the men "up in the clouds" hear them. From the monument the Indians walked down Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol.

They made a novel procession as they stumbled along, looking backwards and in every direction except straight ahead. They were all in citizens' clothes, and their array of garments indicated that they had almost cleaned out the second-hand stores on D street. Early in the morning one of the young and giddy bucks had been out for a high white hat, which bore a black band reaching almost to the top.

When "Young Man Who Leads the Fashion" appeared at the hotel with this wonderful headgear, he struck his friends with consternation and envy, and they immediately started out and bought all the high-white hats they could find. As they marched through the capitol, they looked like a strutting political campaign club. They listened to Senator Cockrell's tariff speech, and as he seemed to be talking to the empty air they silently went away muttering, "He no good."

After they had seen everything of interest in the capitol building they were massed out on the plaza at the foot of the marble steps of the senate wing, where their pictures were taken in a group. This experience pleased them so much that they would not go away until they had the camera aimed at them twice more, once while they were ranged about the statue of George Washington and again on the steps of the house wing.

All the afternoon the Indians were followed by a crowd of men, women, children and dogs, but they did not pay the least attention to their admirers. Nothing that they saw moved them to show a shadow of interest. Their faces were absolutely as expressionless as if made of wood, until finally they were mounted on the top of half a dozen double-decker horsecars. This experience delighted some of the younger ones so much that they were compelled to grin and grunt their satisfaction.

They rode all about the city in this conspicuous manner, followed by troops of shouting boys who had just begun to recover from Buffalo Bill's recent visit when their excitement was renewed by the arrival of Sitting Bull and his savage companions.

When the Indians visit Secretary Vilas to-day they will lay aside their high white hats, their paper collars and linen dusters, and will array themselves in paint and feathers,

blankets and moccasins, ready to talk gibber

for the possession of their land.

OUR MONEY COUNTING SYSTEM.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Treasurer Hyatt, Register Rascars and Mr. Miller, of the loans and currency division, the commission

appointed to investigate the money counting system of the treasury department, have submitted their preliminary report to the secretary of the treasury. As a further security against theft, mismatched notes or other irregularities, the commission recommends a system of double counting, by which notes presented for redemption are to be examined after cancellation for notes incorrectly pieced, counterfeits and other irregularities. The notes are not to be destroyed until they have passed the two sets of counters, who are to be in separate cages.

An assistant superintendent is to be appointed to handle the notes between the first counters and the revisers. Acting Secretary

Thompson has approved the finding of the commission.

OUR MEXICAN REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Gen. Edmund G.

Ross, of New Mexico, makes the feature of his annual report to the secretary of the interior, the questions of the settlement of land grant titles, water, storage and navigation. He states that these questions take precedence over all others in importance to the development and welfare of the territory. He urges the passage of the bills now pending in congress, for the settlement of the disputed land grants; that a selection of 15,000 acres of the public lands in the territory is authorized upon, which a loan can be based to apply the means to carry out a comprehensive system of irrigation.

STANDING IN HER OWN LIGHT.

It is thought Canada will back down on the fishery question.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The World publishes the following special dispatch from Toronto, Ont.: It is thought that the Dominion government intends to back down on the fishery question. The Free Press of London, Ont., which voices the views of Minister of Agriculture Carling, takes the ground that Canada had better yield. After reviewing the question of the transhipment of fish in bond, it is said:

"Would it not be well that Canada should waive her rights under the treaty of 1818, and be willing, under altered condition of things in respect to carriage by rail, to permit American fishermen the privilege of making use of our lines, for the purpose of forwarding their legitimate catch to the general market? We frankly confess that we would be in favor of such a concession."

The editorial concludes that in resisting the American contention Canada is standing in her own light. The article is clearly inspired from Ottawa.

NARROW ESCAPE OF AN OCEAN STEAMER.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 18.—The steamer Ulunda, on her last trip from Halifax to London narrowly escaped being dashed to pieces on the rocks of New Foundland. The passengers were preparing to retire late one evening when there was a cry of "Breakers ahead." They rushed on deck and were told to get ready to take to the boats. The fog was dense but the vessel was so close to shore that the roaring breakers were clearly discernible and audible. The half-clad passengers expected instant shipwreck, and were greatly terrified, but by skillful management the peril was avoided, the steamer being gradually worked out of her dangerous position and proceeded on the voyage.

A KENTUCKY MURDER.

MORGANFIELD, Ky., Oct. 18.—Curd Brantley and Joseph Aarons were returning home from a shooting match at Blackford Monday, when a difficulty arose over some old disagreement. Aarons had a shotgun and Brantley an air-gun. Brantley backed Aarons some eighty steps or more, calling him ugly names. Aarons succeeded finally in getting Brantley's gun, and made him promise to behave himself and make friends. Brantley promised to do so and his gun was returned to him. On receiving his gun he struck Aarons on the head with it, and the latter in turn shot Brantley, killing him almost instantly. Aarons then fled and has not yet been captured.

COLLAPSE IN A RAILROAD TUNNEL.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 18.—A collapse in the West Shore tunnel at West Point, will probably cause a rearrangement of the time schedule for some days to come. Through passenger trains are run from here via the Erie to Jersey City. Way passengers are taken on special trains to Cornwall and then transferred by boat to West Point, where local trains are again made up. The engineer of the train that was caught in the tunnel has been unusually unlucky, having struck and killed two men this week.

QUICK JUDGMENT IN GEORGIA.

JESSUP, Ga., Oct. 18.—In January, 1886, Robert J. Smith, of this city, was murdered by Lewis Edwards, colored, who was sentenced to life imprisonment. His attorney secured a new trial, and the case was to have begun yesterday. Sunday night the sheriff brought Edwards here and at 3 o'clock Monday morning a party of masked men entered the jail and shot him dead.

A SUGAR BOWL BANK ROBBED.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 18.—Samantha Streeter, a widow, residing four miles west of the city, was robbed of $1,150 in gold Monday night. Being afraid of banks, she converted her earnings into gold, and kept it in the house. The gold was placed in a sugar bowl and secreted in the pantry. The burglars entered through the pantry window.

THE HOTEL AND POSTOFFICE BURNED.

CLINTON, Iowa, Oct. 18.—The River Park hotel and the postoffice at Chancy, Iowa, were burned Monday night, together with their contents. Loss $4,000; insurance $1,600. The inmates of the hotel escaped in their night clothes.

THE OREGON PENITENTIARY.

SOME TALK THAT IT MAY BE REMOVED FROM COLUMBUS TO MANSFIELD.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 18.—The joint legislative committee appointed to investigate and report to the general assembly the advisability of removing the state penitentiary to Mansfield and locating it upon the grounds where the intermediate penitentiary is now building, was in the city Tuesday, and in company with the board of managers of the intermediate and the citizens' committee, visited the prison grounds and made other investigations in the line of work for which it was appointed.

THE COMMITTEE HAS GIVEN NO POSITIVE STATEMENT.

THE COMMITTEE HAS ANNOUNCED THAT IT WILL RECOMMEND TO THE LEGISLATURE THE REMOVAL OF THE STATE PENAL INSTITUTION.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT THIS ACTION WILL BE TAKEN BECAUSE THE GROUNDS AT COLUMBUS CAN BE SOLD TO THE RAILROAD COMPANIES AT A FIGURE WHICH WILL GO FAR TOWARD DEFRAUDING THE EXPENSES OF ERECTING NEW BUILDINGS HERE IN ADDITION TO THE INTERMEDIATE BUILDINGS, AND THAT THUS THE MANAGEMENT OF THE INSTITUTIONS CAN BE LARGELY COMBINED, THEREBY REDUCING UNNECESSARY EXPENSES.

THE MONTGOMERY LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

THE WOOD RIVER TRUST COMPANY.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 18.—D. E. Hill, of Akron, O., president of the National Association of Sewer Pipe Manufacturers; Theodore Rhoads, of Columbus, secretary of the same; F. H. Hendricks, of Wellsville; N. M. Waller and C. A. Freeman, of Steubenville, wealthy manufacturers, were in the city Tuesday for the alleged purpose of forming a gigantic trust. If the combination is effected they will virtually control the sewer pipe market in the world.

ROASTED ALIVE.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 18.—Tuesday morning a woman named Jeannette, a fortune teller in the lower part of the city, while intoxicated, attempted to fill a lighted lamp with kerosene. The lamp exploded, setting fire to her clothes and the house. Before the flames could be extinguished the woman was literally roasted, huge pieces of flesh falling off her limbs while she was being conveyed to the hospital. She died in terrible agony last evening.

SMALLPOX AT QUARANTINE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The steamer Rugia, which arrived at quarantine to-day from Hamburg and Havre, had a case of smallpox on board. The patient was isolated, all the passengers vaccinated and thoroughly disinfected, and the ship was cleansed, after which she was allowed to proceed.

Allison.

As late as 1870 Senator Allison, the great Republican leader, had this to say of the Democratic tariff of 1846:

The tariff of 1846, although confessedly and professedly a tariff for revenue, was, so far as regards all the great interests of the country, as perfect a tariff as any that we have ever had.

He further said in referring to a proposed reduction of tariff:

But I may be asked how this reduction shall be made. I think it should be upon all leading articles, or nearly all, and for that purpose when I can get an opportunity in the House, if no gentleman does before me, I shall move that the pending bill be recommended to the Committee on Ways and Means with instructions to report a reduction upon existing rates of duty equivalent to 20 per cent., or one-fifth reduction. Even this will not be a full equivalent for the removal of all the internal taxes upon manufacturers.

Now if Senator Allison thought that the tariff imports in 1870, when the rate was less than 47 per cent., could be safely and wisely reduced 20 per cent. is it unreasonable or dangerous to the manufacturing interests that the Democrats want to reduce it 4 per cent., which is 16 per cent., less than he advocated? No sensible man will claim it is unreasonable.

Senator Allison advocated—went on record as doing so—20 per cent. reduction of the tariff in 1870; now he is crying “free trade” at the Democrats for trying to affect a reduction of 4 or 5 per cent.

Free Tin.

Mr. F. B. Thurber, a well known New York merchant, has the following to say in the American Grocer in regard to free tin:

My business would be benefited, if anything by an increase of duty, as I could use it as an excuse to exact twice the amount from customers. But the country at large, and the manufacturers also in the end will be helped by a repeal of the duty on tin plate. Free tin means 6 cents per dozen less on all three-pound canned goods and about 10 cents per dozen on gallon canned goods, to the consumer.

Mr. Thurber in thus speaking voices the sentiment of very many business men who are Republicans and will support Mr. Cleveland for a second term. They have the good sense to see that tin plate which has a protection of $1.10 a box does not really need any protection, as not a single box of it is made in this country, or is likely to be.

Sixteen million dollars are sent out of this country every year for tin and the people are compelled by the tariff to pay five million dollars for the privilege of using this foreign commodity. It is a hardship that the Democrats propose to remove by putting tin on the free list. Vote to sustain them in their effort.

A VOTE for Paynter is a vote in favor of doing away with war taxes.

THE election ticket to be voted in Ohio this fall will be the longest one ever voted in that State. The Presidential, State, district and county tickets will be printed on one ballot, and as the law requires that not less than one-fifth of an inch space shall be left below each name and that the ticket shall not be over 2½ inches in width, they will be somewhere in the neighborhood of a yard long by 2½ inches wide.

COLONEL WILLIAM CUSSIUS GOODLOE, Chairman of the Republican National Executive Committee, was at Lexington Monday and offered to bet $500 New York will go 50,000 for Harrison. A fellow named Martin stepped up and said: “I have just had my bank book balanced, and I have $302.50 in bank, and I will bet you $300 of it that Cleveland is elected.” Colonel Goodloe said he would not bet less than $500, and Mr. Martin told him he had only $300 to bet. No bet was made.

The Colonel doesn't want to come around Maysville offering any such $500 bet as the above. They would be snappers up so quick that “it would make his head swim.”

In mentioning the recent joint discussion at that place between Messrs. Davis and Hendricks, the Carlisle Mercury says: “Those who listened to Colonel Thomas A. Davis' speech last Saturday must have been particularly delighted to learn that ‘old high protective tariff’ is a bigger man than Jehovah. The great development of this country, the increase in population, the increase in stock, the increase in butter, the increase in learning, the increase in everything was shown to be directly due to high taxes. If Colonel Davis' argument is true, why does not his party propose to raise the rate of taxation? The Colonel asked the question: ‘Is there no God?’ Our answer is, that if Republican argument is true He has not been at work in the United States for twenty-eight years. But there is a God, and no party ever had greater reason to fear him than the G. O. P. ‘I am a jealous God,’ we learn from the scriptures, and if this is true, what a fate is in store for the party who robes God of his just praise.”

Caught After Six Years.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18.—A man giving the name of William Hubbard was arrested Tuesday night on general suspicion. When Chief Speers saw him he recognized him as Bob Wright, who killed Nellie Bush at 131 Longstreet, Cincinnati, in 1882. Wright is known as a hotel thief.

The Alleged Anarchists' Cases.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The cases of the alleged Anarchists, Chapek, Sevic, Hronek, et al., came up before Judge Jamieson. The attorney for the defendants asked for a change of venue to Judge Collins, which was granted. Sevic and Chapek then asked for a separate trial, alleging that they had not been arrested or indicted with the others, and that theirs were separate cases. This motion will be argued Friday morning.

Annual Session of the Grand Bodies of the Order, Held at Louisville.

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons held their annual session at Louisville this week. The election and appointment of officers for ensuing year
resolved as follows:

High Priest—H. G. Sandifer.

Deputy High Priest—H. B. Grant.

King—J. D. Powers.

Sentinel—C. H. Flisk.

Treasurer—J. H. Leathers.

Secretary—J. H. Brannah.

Chaplain—Rev. J. H. Young, D. D.

Royal Arch Captain—Judge W. P. Coons.

Judge Coons, of this city, was made chairman of the Committee on Finance, and Mr. W. LaRue Thomas chairman of the Committee on Unfinished Business.

The annual session of the Grand Lodge,
F. & A. M., was also held. Grand Master
J. Soule Smith decided that the business of saloon-keeping is not a Masonic offense, and declared a resolution adopted
a year ago to that effect as unconstitutional
and void.

In regard to the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home at Louisville the report shows an endowment fund of $167,495.78 invested. It is stated that 85 per cent. of the girls who have left the Home have married. The total number of beneficiaries admitted since the Home was opened is 577. Of this, eight were from Louisville and 55 from Jefferson County. The remainder are from all parts of the State.
Louisville, aside from donations by lodges and individuals, has contributed,
as realized from St. John's Day celebrations, the sum of $78,580 in seventeen years, the largest amount being $14,959.
62, in 1873; and the next largest, $12, 679.20, in 1888. The average number of beneficiaries is about two hundred, at an average cost of $101.03. The report shows the Home to be in good condition throughout, with all its departments in excellent working order.

Mrs. Scott Siddon's Clothes.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Tribune says: "I have just seen some of the long array of dresses made by Maison Roger for Mrs. Scott Siddons, and as they are of the latest make a description of them may be interesting, especially to the ladies.

A characteristic dress has a very severe and stately looking skirt made entirely of iris purple, with a long, gathered square train; front and sides are draped just sufficiently to produce a few folds on the left, fastened with a dark green and iris passementerie girdle, which hangs loose around the hips. The corsage of iris velvet has a square opening at the neck, filled in with a fichu of light heliotropic crepe. On a plastron of white velvet iris flowers and leaves are worked high in relief and in their natural colors.
The mediaeval sleeve that was formerly called the angel sleeve hangs from the shoulder down. They are made of iris velvet lined with heliotropic crepe. In side is an elbow sleeve of heliotropic crepe.

Here is a beautiful evening dress:
Over a thickly gathered lace flounce falls
an ivory satin skirt whose front is thickly incrusted with multicolored beads and plaques of mother of pearl. Nothing more gorgeous in the way of ornamentation can be imagined. A thick fringe of variegated beads forming rounded scallops rests on the lace flounce. From the waist, long, luminous lines of gold, silver and bead incrustations, intersected with carved mother of pearl, descend and grow wider as they reach the bursting of the rainbow colors of a fan-shaped rocket.
Side panels of gilded bronze velvet are lined with shrimp satin. The panels are tucked up here and there and show the lining as if by accident. The long gathered train is of ivory satin. There is an ivory satin corsage, all the edges of which are bound with a bias strip of gilded bronze velvet. It is cut square and decollete, and has a plastron with embroideries to match the front of the skirt;
very short tulle sleeves."

Wood-Worthington.

The marriage of Mr. Robert G. Wood,
of Helena Station, and Miss Marie Worthington took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Jesse Worthington, of Choctaw. The couple, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs.
Robert Cook, of Helena, drove to this city later in the afternoon where they took supper at the St. Charles Hotel, and left shortly afterwards on the Bonanza
for Cincinnati on a bridal trip.

The Fleming True Blue Democrat says:
"The bride is an accomplished young lady, and belongs to one of the best known families in Mason. Mr. Wood is salesman and clerk for H. W. Warder, agent at Helena Station, and was formerly with Harrison Brothers, merchants, at Helena, and with J. A. Patton, now of Delhi, O. He is a young man of the best character, popular and a general favorite."

A JUDGEMENT REVERSED.

Marshall's Administrator vs. the Trustees of the Colored Baptist Church of Mayslick.

The Superior Court in reversing the judgement in the above mentioned case
says:

First—Land was conveyed to the trustees of the colored Baptist Church of Mayslick and their successors in office "for the use and benefit of the colored Baptist congregation of Mayslick, Ky., for church and school purposes." Held—That there is nothing in this deed which would prohibit the trustees, acting under the express authority of the church, conferred at a regular church meeting, from erecting a house upon the land to be used as a parsonage.

Second—A contract for the building of a house provides that the parties who build the house "shall hold the house until the last dollar is paid," including interest, etc. Held—That this contract did not confer upon the builders such a lien upon the land on which the house is built, or upon the house itself,
as could be enforced by a sale of the house and land. The Chancellor was only authorized to order the property to be rented upon proper terms until the amount of rent encloses
the debt.

Third—As the evidence seems to have been taken upon the idea that all the material allegations of the answer were denied, the plaintiff (appellee) should be allowed, if he so desires, to file a reply upon the return of the case, a material allegation of the answer being uncontested.

THE Ripley Bee says: "A large planing and gristmill stood in the way of the new railroad at Four Mile, Ky. Every sort of overture from the railroad company to the owner had been spurned,
but the time at last came when the railroad had to have the right of way, and it got it. Early on the morning of Sunday, Oct. 7th, a contractor and 150 men fell upon that mill, great was the distress. The owner lived three miles distant, but before he could rise and reach the scene, his mill was a mass of splinters
and a standard gauge track was laid
over its foundations, despite his foaming
and fuming."

THE POOR AMEER.

BESIDES BEING RACKED PAINS BY OF THE BODY

HE IS TORTURED BY UPRISE AMONG HIS SUBJECTS.

His Troops and the Tashkurgan Rebels Have a Bloody Battle in which the Latter is Defeated—The Overthrow of France Predicted—Emperor William at Naples.

Foreign Notes.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The troubles of the ameer of Afghanistan are increasing rapidly. Tortured with the pains of an incurable illness he is also racked with the pains of an unceasing war against his authority by first one and then another of the various tribes which comprise his subjects. No sooner has he settled, to all appearances, one armed dispute than he has another on his hands, and frequently the soldiers he sends out against a horde of rebels join the insurgents without so much as the formality of a preliminary parley.

From the reports received from the Indian government Tuesday we learn that a fight between the ameer's troops and the Tashkurgan rebels has taken place, in which the loss is stated to have been 500 of the ameer's army and 1,600 of the rebels killed and wounded. This vague and ex parte statement would imply that the rebels were routed, and the rebellion, so far as it related to that locality, ended. This line of reasoning, however, to anybody who knows the topography of the region in which the battle is alleged to have been fought, the character of the inhabitants and the methods of warfare in vogue, conveys no such idea. Assuming that the rebels lost the greater number of men, though nobody believes that the casualties were proportionately, as stated, the rebels still have the advantage in that they are able to retire to fastnesses inaccessible to the soldiery of Abdurrahman, because of their ignorance of the physical features of the regions in which they are fighting.

But it is not with the rebellious tribes alone, or even in large part, that the ameer is waging war. There is an irresistible force tending southward, which neither he nor his patron and presumed protector, the Indian government can much longer withstand. Three-fifths of the tribes of Afghanistan are corrupted by Russian gold or Muscovite promises to an interminable war with the Cabul government, and the time is not far distant when Russia will interfere ostensibly to protect her interests, real or imaginary, but actually to obtain a foothold in the Indian protectorates. Already the Russian railway system, which is the one thing needful to the success of her proposed Indian operations, is completed to within a comparatively few miles of the point from which Herat may be attacked with reasonable prospects of the fall of that stronghold, and the expulsion of the ameer from his capital is obviously a mere question of time.

Mackenzie's Mistake.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A special cable to the Herald from Heidelberg, Germany, says: Professor Kussmaul, formerly of Strasburg, now of Heidelberg, a great German authority on diseases of the lungs, was called on, it will be remembered, in the Emperor Frederick's case by Morell Mackenzie. They quarelled at San Remo because Mackenzie refused to allow Kussmaul to examine the emperor's larynx, and the German physician returned home in forty-eight hours. "Mackenzie," said the professor, "certainly underrated Dr. Gerhardt, who was distinguished in laryngoscopy long before Mackenzie meddled with it. Gerhardt is one of the fathers of the science."

"He goes back to the time when Tuerck and Czernak first brought it before the medical world. From the time laryngoscopy was studied Gerhardt has made discovery after discovery in the pathology of the larynx. He is one of the best diagnosticians and as a general practitioner is certainly superior to Mackenzie. He made a correct diagnosis in a very short time of the emperor's case, a difficult thing to do. Mackenzie thought he had a benign growth to deal with, and when he found he was wrong could not bring himself to acknowledge his mistake, and surrender his illustrious patient to Gerhardt and Bergmann, as he ought to have done."

France's Overthrow Predicted.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The most momentous event about to transpire in Europe is the constitutional revision measure introduced by Premier Floquet. The German newspapers speak distrustfully of the situation. The North German Gazette, quoting the Temps' ironical comments on Premier Floquet's revision bill, indorses the prediction of the Temps that an empire is at hand. The Tagblatt thinks that something unexpected will happen in France, and that the doom of the Moderate Republican party was sealed on Monday. Sixty-seven Republicans, headed by M. Ferry, did not vote in the division.

The measure does not appear to be regarded as a possibility, and the journals ignore the details. The revision committee has decided to confer first with Premier Floquet and then with the authors of seven other revision schemes. In the chamber of deputies, M. Dugue de la Fanconnerie, a member of the Right, introduced a resolution declaration that the proper time for a revision of the constitution was after the elections for members of the chamber of deputies had shown in what sense the people deserved a revision. He asked urgency for his resolution, which the chamber refused.

Empress Frederick Eulogized.

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—Empress Frederick presided at a meeting of the committee for the relief of the sufferers by the recent inundations. Dr. Achenbach, governor of the province of Brandenburg, made an address in which he eulogized Empress Frederick for her work in relieving the sufferers. The committee reported that the distress among the people had been removed. Empress Frederick thanked the committee for their self-sacrificing efforts in behalf of the destitute in the flooded districts.

The Italians Enthusiastic.

NAPLES, Oct. 18.—Emperor William, King Humbert, Prince Henry of Prussia and the dukes of Aosta and Genoa arrived in this city at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. The progress of the exalted visitors from the station to the royal palace was made at the slowest pace, owing to the density of the crowds which had gathered along the route. It is estimated that there were half a million persons on the street. The royal party were given a fervidly enthusiastic reception.

The purpose of all this royal visiting occupies the minds of the thoughtful. This emphasizing of the irrefragable nature of the triple alliance and stimulation of enthusiasm in its favor is equivalent to an announcement that it is about to be put to a severe test. The interests and aims of the three allies, Germany, Austria and Italy, are by no means identical. For instance, the king of Holland is the last descendant of William the Silent. When death overtakes him Germany will endeavor to incorporate Holland into the empire, to which England will most decidedly object.

England is Italy's virtual and most important ally, and her loyalty to the triple alliance in such a contingency would be terribly strained. So Austria is by no means willing to permit such interference by Russia in the affairs of the Balkan slave populations as Germany has shown herself willing to grant. So many other diversified interests render the triple alliance weak enough to need the bolstering of popular sentiment which it is now receiving.

Major Barttelot's Murderer Hanged.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 18.—A courier has arrived here from the Congo Free State. He brings details of the death of Maj. Barttelot, who was shot and killed with a revolver by a porter in the Stanley relief expedition, in revenge for the ill-treatment he was subjected to by Maj. Barttelot. The murderer was placed under arrest and delivered to the court at Stanley Falls. He has since been hanged for the crime.

Foreign Notes.

Floods in Abruzzo have caused enormous damage and the loss of many lives.

It is expected that Cardinal Manning will pass a portion of the winter in Rome.

The prince of Wales has bade farewell to Emperor Francis Joseph and started for England.

James E. Flood is still in bed at Heidelberg, although he is improving under the care of his three physicians.

The executive committee of Hamburg has given notice that free commercial intercourse with Germany has commenced.

The will of the late Lord Sackville bequeaths everything untailed to the queen's maids of honor. Sir S. L. West, the British minister at Washington, inherits the estate and £10,000 yearly.

At a meeting of the Anglo-American lodge of Free Masons in London the secretary presented a "loving-cup" in behalf of the Maryland lodge, in acknowledgment of the courtesies extended to the Maryland grand master while in England; also, a jewel to Mr. Brackstone Baker in behalf of the same lodge.

The Times devotes an entire page to an impartial review of both Dr. Mackenzie's book and the reports of the German physicians on the late Emperor Frederick, and after a calm dissection of both, decides that Mackenzie is shown to have applied the knife in the treatment of the kaiser's throat tender than did his German colleagues.

Fate's Remarkable Coincidence.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 18.—A remarkable series of coincidences is shown in the deaths of two young men, residents of Garryowen, Jackson county, Iowa. Their names were William Shanahan and Dennis Donovan. Both were born and raised in the same town, both were twenty-seven years of age, both were married the same day, both of their wives died within a day of each other, and they themselves both died yesterday and were buried to-day. An old fortune-teller, according to report, long ago cast their horoscopes and predicted that their fortunes would be identical.

Fatally Shot His Father.

MAHOMET, Ill., Oct. 18.—George Rowe, eighteen years old, the son of James Rowe, of this place, shot his father Tuesday the ball passing through his neck. The father will die. Rowe was a butcher, and kept a small stock of goods. He charged George with stealing cigars from the show case and a quarrel resulted. The father threw a scale weight at his son, who thereupon immediately drew a revolver and fired. He was arrested and lodged in the county jail at Urbana to await the result of the wounds.

Detection by Carelessness.

PERU, Ind., Oct. 18.—James Ross has been sentenced to the penitentiary for two years for burglarizing Dalg & Well's second hand store last Thursday. Among the things taken was a coat and vest, which he exchanged for his own, in the pocket of which was a note addressed to him, which led to the arrest.

The stock market opened steady at about last night's figures, but during the first hour on a good buying of Union Pacific, prices strengthened and advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 per cent. During the hour to noon a raid on Missouri Pacific sent that stock down to 14 per cent, and the remainder of the list declined fractionally in sympathy. The market at this writing is about steady.
